Michael Senior / Michael Sokhan / Dok Sokhan

Background:
Sokhan was born in Cambodia and adopted by a family in Canada as an infant, where he was raised. He returned to Cambodia in 1995, where he worked as a television newscaster and an English teacher.

Details of Incident:
On 7 July 1997, soon after leaving his apartment in Phnom Penh, Sokhan witnessed soldiers looting a public market. The rampage took place in the aftermath of a coup that had begun two days earlier by then-second Prime Minister Hun Sen. While taking pictures of the looting, he was accosted by the soldiers, who then shot him in the knee. Hearing the shot, his wife came out, and both Sokhan and his wife pleaded with the soldiers for mercy, apologising for taking the photographs. The soldiers proceeded to execute him in front of his wife and brother-in-law.

Aftermath:
Nobody has been arrested or charged for these events.

Sources:
http://khmernz.blogspot.com/2008_07_19_archive.html
http://www.mekong.net/cambodia/un_memo.htm
http://cpj.org/killed/1997/michael-senior.php